Farewell of the United States Sanitary Commission.

WASHINGTON, (D. C.), July 4, 1865.—To the Branches and Aid Societies of the United States Sanitary Commission: In a circular (No. 90) issued from this office May 15th, you were called on to continue your labors in collecting and forwarding supplies up to the present date. For the alacrity you have shown in complying with this request under circumstances so unfavorable to zeal we tender you special thanks. Your continued support has enabled us to extend a generous assistance to our armies gathered at Washington, Louisville and elsewhere before being finally mustered out of service. When you have forwarded to our receiving depots such supplies as you may now have on hand, we shall find our storehouses sufficiently recruited to meet all remaining wants of the service. In the Eastern Department our work of supply is substantially done, with the exception of a small service still required in the neighborhood of Washington. In the Western Department it may continue, on a very diminished scale, a couple of months longer. In Texas and the Gulf possibly the supply service may last all Summer. But by economy of our stores in hand we feel authorized to say that after collecting what is already in existence, we shall be able to meet all just demands made upon us.

We, therefore, in accordance with our promise, notify our branches that their labors in collecting supplies for us may finally cease from this date. We shall make no further requisition upon them, except in regard to supplies already in their hands or on their way to them. We hope our branches will use all diligence in forwarding to our receiving depots, through the accustomed channels, whatever stores may reach them from their Sanitary Aid Societies, or any they have in hand. All balances in cash left in the branch treasuries after settling up their local affairs, will be forwarded to G. T. Strong, Treasurer of the United States Sanitary Commission. So far as any of our branches are engaged in other portions of our work than in collecting and forwarding supplies, their labors will continue so long as those of the Commission itself may last. But the supply of work is over, and the characteristic labors of the women of the land in furnishing hospital clothing and comforts for sick and wounded soldiers are completed. Henceforward, during the few months of existence still allotted to the Sanitary Commission to complete its work of collecting the pensions and back pay of the soldiers, in which it already has one hundred and twenty-seven offices established, to make up its scientific record and close up its widely extended affairs, there will be no probable necessity for addressing the women of the country, and this circular may be our last opportunity until the final report of the Commission is made, of expressing the gratitude of the Board for their patient, humane and laborious devotion to our common work.

For more than four years the United State Sanitary Commission has depended on its branches, mainly directed and controlled by women, for keeping alive the interest in its work in all the villages and homes of the country, for establishing and banding together the Soldiers' Aid Societies which in thousands have sprung up and united their strength in our service. By correspondence and by actual visitation, as well as by a system of canvassers, you, at the centers of influence, have maintained your hold upon the homes of the land, and kept your stores and ours full of their contributions. By what systematic and business-like devotion of your time and talents you have been able to accomplish this, we have been studious and admiring observers. Your volunteer work has had all the regularity of paid labor. In a sense of responsibility, in system, in patient persistency, in attention to wearisome details, in a victory over the fickleness which commonly besets the work of volunteers, you have rivaled the discipline of the [illegible] of soldiers in the field, soldiers enlisted for the war. Not seldom, indeed, your labors continued through frosts and heats, and without intermission, for years, have broken down your health. But your ranks have always been kept full, and full, too, of the best, most capable and noble women in the country.

Nor do we forget that you, who have controlled and inspired our branches, and with whom it has been our happiness to be brought into personal contact, are, because acting in a larger sphere more worthy of our thanks and respect than the women who have maintained our village Soldiers' Aid Societies. Indeed, the ever-changing burden of your communications to us has been the praise and love inspired in you by the devoted patriotism, the self sacrificing zeal of the Aid Societies, and their individual contributors. Through you we have heard the same glowing and tear-moving tales of the sacrifices made by humble homes and hands in behalf of our work which we so often hear from their representatives of privates in the field, who throughout the war have often won the laurels their officers have worn, and have been animated by motives of pure patriotism, unmixed with hope of promotion or desire for recognition or praise, to give their blood and their lives for the country of their hearts. To you, and through you to the Soldiers' Aid Societies, and through them to each and every contributor to our supplies—to every woman who has sewn a seam or knitted a stocking in the service of the Sanitary Commission, we now return our most sincere and hearty thanks—thanks which are not ours only, but those of the camps, the hospitals, the transports, the prisons, the pickets and the lines, where your love and labor have sent comfort, protection relief, and sometimes life itself.

It is not too much to say that the army of women at home has fully matched in patriotism and in sacrifices the army of men in the field. The mothers, sisters, wives and daughters of America, have been worthy of the sons and brothers, husbands and fathers who were fighting their battles. After having contributed their living treasures to the war, what wonder they sent so freely after them all else they had! And this precious sympathy between the fireside and the camp-fires, between the bayonet and the needle, the tanned cheek and the pale face, has kept the nation one, has carried the homes into the ranks, and kept the ranks in the homes, until a sentiment of oneness, of irresistible unanimity, in which domestic and social, civil and religious, political and military elements entered, qualifying strengthening, enriching and sanctifying all, has at last conquered all obstacles, and given us an overwhelming, a profound and permanent victory. It has been our precious privilege to be your almoners, to manage and distribute the stores you have created and given us for the soldiers and sailors.

We have tried to do our duty impartially, diligently, wisely. For the means of carrying on this vast work, which has grown up in our hands, keeping pace with the growing immensity of the war, and which we are now about to lay down after giving the American public an account of her stewardship, we are chiefly indebted to the money created by the Fairs which American women inaugurated and conducted, and to the supplies collected by you under our organization. To you, then, is finally due the largest part of whatever gratitude belongs to the Sanitary Commission. It is as it should be. The soldier will return to his home to thank his own wife, mother, sister, daughter, for so tenderly looking after him in camp and field, in hospital and prison, and thus it will be seen that it is the homes of the country which have wrought out this great salvation, and that the men and women of America have an equal part in its glory and its joy. Invoking the blessing of God upon you all, we are gratefully and proudly your fellow laborers.

Manifesto of George N Sanders

MONTREAL (Canada), March 7, 1865

President Davis—My Dear Sir Encouraged by your approval of my suggestion two years since to visit Canada to form an alliance with the northern Democracy I returned here on the first of June last with my son Lewis, to place myself again in communication with you, first seeing what alliances could be formed, and whether a satisfactory adjustment could not be effected with the Washington Government

Upon my arrival I met Jacob Thompson to whom I communicated my plans, after knowing that he had been appointed by you to a confidential mission to the Canadas Thompson would not enter into my views he had no confidence in political movements he believed in nothing but stirring up rebellion and revolution in the North west

Upon the arrival of Clay and Holcombe, I endeavored to show the impossibility of the success of any movement not open and general in its character—that the Northern people could not be induced to rise either by States or sections, but that we could control the Chicago Convention and organize a powerful party from Portland to San Francisco that would have power to stop the war even should they fail to get possession of the Federal Government, and that after such organization was perfected and promised success, we would have a good prospect of making terms with President Lincoln previous to the election, certainly should he be defeated

The McClellan or War Democracy having possession of the press and machinery of the Democratic party, and evincing no very friendly disposition to the South, I determined to make a direct move upon President Lincoln; and for that purpose I opened negotiations with Horace Greeley He with sagacious patriotism promptly responded and for some days we had high hopes of good results Clay and Holcombe agreed to this move on my part, and with great ability and eloquence conducted the negotiations, the particulars of which they have communicated to you. During the progress of the negotiations the McClellan or War Democracy became very hostile. Fearing that we would make peace with the Lincoln Government, they organized to oppose us at all hazards President Lincoln, by his negotiation and his letter, "To all whom it may concern," was thought to have destroyed all chance of an election.

The War Democrats, not appreciating the position, thought McClellan's nomination as good as an election By their unwarranted confidence and false promises they seduced our friends at Chicago; and with resolution meaning nothing, pleasing no one, they nominated Gen. McClellan, who gave the finishing blow to any possible success by his arrogant, war-splitting letter of acceptance.

The fact is, any plan of reconstruction that the Chicago Convention might have brought forward, the South proclaiming its satisfaction, would have insured the success of the ticket. The McClellan organs, however, seemed to vie with those of Lincoln in exhibiting to the public any hostility that the Confederates might express against either of their respective favorites, and they were equally afraid to perfect any settlement with the Confederacy. In a letter to Governor Horatio Seymour and Benjamin Wood, immediately after the appearance of McClellan's letter of acceptance I endeavored in vain to move General McClellan and his advisers from their disastrous position. I demonstrated that if they would come to an understanding with us, similar to that now entered into with Governor Walker, they could carry the whole country. I told them plainly that if they continued to cry out for a more vigorous prosecution of the war, when the whole affair could be settled in a day, they would not, and ought not, to carry a single State.

At my earnest request R. J. Walker came to Montreal in January last, and is still here, but leaves to-morrow for Washington. You will see by the inclosed letter of mine, to the leading men of the North, what he proposes to do.

I am convinced that his gratitude and love for the people of Mississippi, his old constituents, hold him still, and that he is willing, regardless of all personal consequences to himself to risk everything in the effort to restore the Union upon such guarantees for the rights of the South, and of all the States, as would, in his opinion, be permanent and effectual He scouts the idea of humiliating or subjugating the South; he boasts of their unequaled courage and endurance; and in state that there is no sacrifice, except honor, to which the North ought not to agree, that would re-establish a cordial and fraternal Union.

I think his plan the only one promising any success, I believe that the Lincoln Government will accede to his views. But if they should not, and the South should indicate their approval, the party in its favor would sweep the North in the elections this year.

These are Walker's opinions, and, after a full and free conference, I am certain that he is on the true and only line of American adjustment, except by long and successful fighting on our part

* * * * * *

General Breckinridge of your Cabinet knows me thoroughly, and as I have been most of the time in active opposition to him, he will be able to give a fair estimate of what value may attach to my opinion. Of your constitutional advisers Senator Hunter has known me for twenty years, up to 1852, intimately. After that and until the end of the old Government, I was an active, determined opponent, more personal than political Senators Johnson, Brown, Barnett, Wigfall and Semmes, Representatives Bocock, Miles, Boyce, McQueen, Marshall, Hodge, Machen, Headley, Bruce, Pugh, Harris, Gentry, McCluskey, Wilcox, Generals Lee, Johnston, Beauregard, Bragg, Hood, A P Hill, Cobb and G W. Smith were more or less familiar with my political operations under the old order of things Pardon my referring to these gentlemen, but I feel that you have not the intimate knowledge of my actions and associations under the old Government to lead you to a correct estimate of my opinions now

If Clay or Holcombe should be with you, I am sure that they will concur entirely with my view of last Summer's proceedings, and will advise you to see W,

In answer to Secretary Seward's speech at Auburn, last Autumn, attacking me for my interference in Federal politics, I said to him that, in the event of Lincoln's defeat you would at once treat with him upon the largest American basis and I have been told that the idea pleased him much And, although Lincoln's re-election has made negotiation with him more difficult yet it will be impossible for him to long resist any practicable plan of reconstruction known to be acceptable to the South With the highest regard I am dear sir, your friend GEO N SANDERS

The Conspiracy---Atzerott's Confession

BALTIMORE, July 9 —The American has received a special report of the confession of Atzerott which was prepared by one who has known him since his arrest The details of the plot to abduct and murder the President which are set forth below, were given the author by Atzerott but a short time before his death

George Andrew Atzerott was born in the kingdom of Prussia in 1835 and came to this country with his parents in 1844 He arrived at Baltimore in which place he resided with his family for about one year when with his parents he removed to Westmoreland county, Virginia His father farmed and carried on his business—that of a blacksmith at the Court house. Atzerott was placed as an apprentice to the coach making business at the Court house where he learned the painting branch He remained at the Court house until 1856 when he went to Washington and worked for Young and also for Dermot the well known coachmaker In 1857 he joined his brother in the coach making business at Port Tobacco. This continued for four years when the firm was dissolved After this he carried on painting in Port Tobacco until last fall, when he went with John H Surratt and a man named Harbine Surratt induced him to join in the conspiracy for abducting the President Atzerott's knowledge of men and the country in the vicinity of Port Tobacco and in fact of all the country bordering on the Potomac gave to the conspirators a valuable assistant. He was well acquainted with Harrold whom he was not long in finding out, and who was also engaged in the conspiracy Surratt went several times to Port Tobacco, and often sent for Atzerott to come to Washington where he was known to many as in Port Tobacco, and [illegible] a very weak minded man—in fact, was regarded as a very harmless and silly fellow Surratt introduced Atzerott to Booth who feasted him and furnished him with horses, the horses being held in the name of Surratt who appeared to be the principal in the absence of Booth The first meeting of the conspirators actually engaged was at a saloon on Pennsylvania avenue, called [illegible]. At this meeting O'Laughlin, Arnold, Booth, Surratt, Harrold and Atzerott were present The first attempt to abduct the President was to be on the Seventh street road This was to be about the middle of March, when they expected the President to visit a camp O'Laughlin, Arnold, Payne, Surratt, Booth and Atzerott were present Harrold left with the buggy and the carbines for T. B. The plan was to seize the coach of the President, Surratt to jump on the box, as he was considered the best driver and make for T. B. by way of Long Old Field, to the Potomac river in the vicinity of Nangemoy creek where they had a boat waiting with men to carry over the party The boat was capable of carrying fifteen men, and was a large flat bottomed batteau, painted lead color, which had been bought for the purpose by Booth, from two men named Brauner and Smoot This plan failed the President not coming as they desired Harrold went next morning to Washington All things remained quiet for some time after this Booth went North, Arnold and O'Laughlin to Baltimore, Payne or Wood left also for New York. A man named Howell was about this time arrested This alarmed Surratt and he left with Mrs Slater for the North This was about the first of April The next plan was to visit the theatre on the night the President was expected to be there It was arranged that Surratt and Booth were to go to the box Arnold, O'Laughlin and Payne were to act some important part in getting him out Harrold and Atzerott were to have charge of the horses and an actor was to be secured to put out the gas Booth represented the best assistant he had was an actor In this plan buggies and horses were to be used A rope, which was prepared and to be at Boyd's, was to be stretched across the road to impede the cavalry in the pursuit The route at this time was the same as before except that they were to cross the Eastern Branch bridge This whole affair failed and Booth said, "It is all up," and spoke of going to Richmond and opening a theatre and promised Atzerott employment in it in some capacity Atzerott was waiting for Booth to arrange his going to Richmond When the affair was renewed again, he had taken a room at the Kirkwood House Harrold called on him and left his knife, pistol and coat in the room, and told him Booth wished to see him at the Herndon House, to which place he repaired in company with Harrold This was in the evening about six o'clock He there met Booth and Payne Booth told Atzerott, "You must kill Johnson" Atzerott demurred, when Booth replied "Harrold has more courage—he will do it Go, get your horses What will become of you anyhow?" Atzerott said to Harrold "We must not disturb Johnson" Harrold laughed and wanted the key of the room It was refused by Atzerott who expressed himself as fearful that harm would be done Johnson Harrold left to go to see Booth and Atzerott went to the Oyster Bay Harrold came after him and said Booth wanted to see him Atzerott did not return to the Kirkwood House during that night Atzerott did not see Booth after leaving him at the Herndon House, and he roamed about the streets nearly all night, and first heard of the murder about half past ten o'clock, while passing up the avenue The cavalry were rushing by at the time in pursuit, He threw away his knife that night and parted with his pistol next morning to a friend in Georgetown Atzerott had nothing to say at any of the former meetings. He knew nothing about the rope found with Spangler He believed Spangler innocent as far as he knew Booth, when applied to for money, would remark that he had money in New York and would get some At one time in the Spring, or late in the Winter, Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Surratt, John Surratt and a Major Baron, formerly of the rebel army, left Washington together They got horses from Howard's Mrs. Surratt stopped at Surratt's. The others went to the Potomac Major Baron returned He did not think Baron had anything to do with the conspiracy, although he was formerly in the rebel army One of Booth's plans to obtain an entrance to the Secretary of State's house was an invention, which, if successful would have involved others in his foul acts. He had made the acquaintance of a woman of strong Southern feelings, living not far from the Secretary's house, who was to make the acquaintance of a servant, who was to be introduced to Booth and by this means he would learn something of the location of the rooms etc Booth was well acquainted with Mudd and had letters of introduction to him Booth told Atzerott about two weeks before the murder, that he had sent provisions and liquor to Dr Mudd's for the supply of the pantry on their way to Richmond with the President

Michael O'Laughlin has made no formal confession as far as publicly known, but he has confessed to the original conspiracy. He denied any knowledge of the murder of the President, or the attempt on Seward's life Although an alibi was tried to be made out, there is no doubt in the minds of those who know all the circumstances of O'Laughlin, that he did visit Stanton's house, as charged in the testimony before the Commission

From Mississippi.

AMONG THE NATIVES.

COLUMBUS, (Miss), June 20 —Since my last letter I have returned from Macon to this point, weary and disgusted with my fortnight's experience with the natives of this country When a traveler sets out to study a people he goes prepared to live with them, be a part of them, and become not only acclimated to their country but accustomed to their customs Livingstone found attractions among the Africans, Hall and Kane among the Esquimaux, and Vambery among the Mahometans of Persia, and the results of their existence among these barbarians have been entertaining duodecimo volumes of much value The South is a far more interesting field, and I wonder the embryo Livingstones and Vamberys have not before discovered it The people here are more barbarous, have stranger customs, and are by far a more interesting study than any race I have ever heard of To any one disposed still to look upon the Southern people as the "chivalrous, noble people" that romance has characterized them, I would not recommend a trip to this region now, while the whole Southern race may said to be en deshabille The war has unveiled them, and they present in character many of the deformities which a dressy belle sometimes displays when caught in the charming employment of disrobing I have been lying for a fortnight in their midst, sharing their poverty and studying their habits and am now hurrying toward civilization as fast as is possible to do so in this God-forsaken country Their food is coarse, but their habits coarser Their garments are by no means fine, but their sensibilities are less delicate The men are stupidly ignorant—inconceivably so and are lacking in energy vigor, and all the characteristics of manhood to a degree so astonishing to a New Yorker that I do not fancy I shall ever recover from my amazement Their chief employment in life appears to be to grumble at their hard fate and the "cruel treatment" of the Yankee Government in taking all their slaves They vary this existence occasionally by quarreling with their former slaves, and bringing them before G M L Johnson, commanding this post and the sub district of Northeast Mississippi, in order to complain of them for deserting the plantation and refusing to work Some of the disputes between the former master and the late slave, to which Colonel Johnson is at times compelled to listen are highly amusing, if it was not plain that the constant repetition of such scenes is wearing Johnson's life out His patience is nearly gone He remarked to me a few days ago that he was beginning to appreciate the beauties of private life "I used to wonder how Andy Johnson, when I was stationed at Nashville, had the sublime patience to be Military Governor of Tennessee and sit and listen to the long winded stories of his former constituents By George, I can't conceive how he ever lived through it I don't wonder that he so heartily hates the sight of a Secessionist I trust that after my term of service is over I may never see one either, and if the negroes give the President half as much trouble as they do me, I think it will be a long while before he takes any steps to give them the right of suffrage"

TROUBLE WITH THE NEGROES

Colonel Johnson's dislike for the negroes arises I think from the trouble which his position as commander of the district gives him He found them, on taking command, in a terribly demoralized state They were leaving the plantations and bivouacking in the woods and killing the cattle and hogs to subsist on Several citizens were murdered by the more lawless He has since reduced them to terms, put them at work told them in an order which he issued that "in the words of their best friend and wise statesman Andrew Johnson, freedom meant liberty to work and enjoy the fruits of their labor," and ordered that they must be put to work He has given work to nearly two thousand of those who were previously living on the Government Now, only a few helpless negro women and children beg in the white [illegible] of charity, which are very numerous on the Government rations Heavy experience with the black people has made Colonel J has a most strong anti-negro suffrage man though in favor of the abolition of slavery He thinks they are not any more capable of wisely exercising the great privilege of voting than the [illegible] whom he [illegible] and with whom a term of residence is no other qualification is requisite They are children in mind and [illegible] means as well qualified [illegible] white [illegible] boys of sixteen Gradual [illegible] from their ignorance, he thinks, is the next step toward making men of the race

All of which is true as far as my experience goes But the capital truth is that generally speaking the great majority of the Southern whites are not one whit the superior in education or morals of the negroes Both races have to be educated, have to be freed from the bondage of ignorance in which the slaveholder has kept both the negroes and the "poor white trash," before they will be able to judge correctly what is best for their interest and welfare If any one wishes to comprehend how it was that the rebel leaders so successfully deluded this people into their accursed rebellion and to see how completely the poor whites became mere tools in the hands of the richer planters he has only to come South and see how totally ignorant and fearfully depraved those poor whites are

DEPRAVITY OF THE WOMEN

I have neither space time nor inclination to say much of the women The depravity among them is fearful Their habits are neither cleanly nor delicate their manners coarse and rude and (positive as the assertion is it is true) virtue is the exception, not the rule with them

SOUTHERN SOCIETY

I notice that a favorite topic with the Northern press is the "destruction of the Southern social system" The fact is that there was no social system in the South outside of the three or four hundred thousand slaveholders and that society is now thoroughly destroyed It was as hollow as the Confederacy, and as heartless The poor whites were never a part of that social system, and it will be years before any respectable social system is again established here unless Northern emigration does it

Committee —Henry Miller, Milwaukie, Superintendent; T M Gatch, Salem; R E Fiske, Salem; J E Sites, Dallas

There are some fine cabinets in Oregon of Birds and Animals, natives of this State. These collections must greatly interest every one who desires to obtain knowledge of the wonderful works of Deity in this Department of Science Nor are the evidences of the rich provisions of Nature in the Department of Metals and Rocks of less importance A few years ago and it was hardly believed that Oregon abounded in the richest metals and ores At our great Annual State Fair we should have in specimens demonstrative evidences of the mineral wealth of Oregon Strangers from distant States will be at our State Fair Let them return to their distant homes with a just appreciation of the great mineral wealth of Oregon.

In works of Art, our citizens can make a fair exhibition We have already seen specimens of Painting, Photographic work, Dentistry, Embroidery, &c, which would do credit to other communities

We understand that fossil bones of extinct animals have been occasionally found in Oregon These should be brought to the Fair—and premiums should be awarded to the exhibitors The holders of such specimens would find sale for them at the Fair

It is now less than two months to the time fixed for the Fair Are our citizens —farmers mechanics, artists, ladies—preparing to make a proper exhibition of the leading interests of our State, at that Fair? We trust that the number of exhibitors the articles exhibited, and the people at the Fair, will far exceed any previous exhibition

SOCIAL CONDITION OF THE SOUTH —The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser says that the following extract of a letter recently received by a gentleman of that city from Dr Hunt, a surgeon in the army, has been handed in for publication

HEADQ'RS FIRST DIVISION SIXTEENTH ARMY CORPS SELMA (Ala) June 7, 1865

This region you know, is the heart of the slavocracy Estates are large lands fertile and the blacks constitute about two-thirds of the population It had entirely escaped the horrors of war The poor whites were all forced into the war, the rich stayed at home in what were called "bomb proof positions"—that is, were "detailed" on some humbug pretense of serving as agents contractors, commissioners, etc Those latter grew rich—apparently richer than before—and showed their zeal for the Confederacy by hunting down the poor conscripts and deserters, who were numerous, particularly in the barren hill region toward Talladega Desertion was hardly a crime in the case of these poor fellows They knew that their families were starving and neglected by the peculiar selfish aristocracy and every instinct led them homeward—even though they knew that they would be outlaws and fugitives and hunted down actually with dogs

Such was the condition when Wilson's raid came through, "evangelizing the bomb proofs" as a Confederate Surgeon called the wild saturnalia of that terrible campaign The phrase indicates his feelings of spite toward the citizens which he shared with nearly all sincere and whole hearted Confederate officers This cold unsympathizing, arrogant aristocracy which had neglected every duty to its army, and had smiled superciliously at starving women and children got a lesson strictly "evangelical," to use the Doctor's phrase and how they howled! In one day they fell to poverty, real or pretended What with the exodus of their slaves, and the work of plunder and the flames, they went under very rapidly

Then came our more quiet and better disciplined occupation and the moment they found us civil they became arrogant until they found that with all our civility, we were a gloomy and terrible engine of the power of the Government Then came obsequiousness

But I am wandering from the point I wished to illustrate The next scene in the drama was the return of the paroled armies of Lee and Johnston These "prisoners of war" affiliated or fraternized at once with our troops It was really an era of good feeling based on mutual respect

But on the other hand they came back breathing vengeance against "bomb proofs" I was up in the hills seventy miles from here alone and without escort or guard and naturally saw and heard much from both sides Old citizens were fleeing from their homes and piteously appealing to me to know if we could not send troops to their rescue The soldiers were openly defiant to what they themselves called the "d—d old secesh" taking them of mules cattle and provisions and with quivering lips telling me of all the long catalogue of wrong and outrage of the last four years Several murders had already occurred and many more has since happened They that took the sword have fallen by the sword Last Saturday two wealthy and prominent citizens were hung and the gang have announced a "proscribed list" of six others Understand this is not guerrilla warfare It is Corsican vendetta I ran and [illegible] through all the country without danger But the rich cannot

The slaves on the other hand behave well Through all the debasement and ignorance of the blacks there is a Christ like element in their character—a gentle and forgiving spirit, which is wonderful They know and insist upon their freedom but they have already learned that liberty implies labor and are mostly at work again for wages And their fear stricken masters hunted down by returned soldiers turn timidly to the niggers for protection The great problem of liberation is by no means solved It involves infinite difficulties But we know at least that the blacks are docile and will be as wax in our hands if they are only properly and wisely governed

Farewell of the United States Sanitary Commission.

WASHINGTON, (D. C.), July 4, 1865.—To the Branches and Aid Societies of the United States Sanitary Commission: In a circular (No. 90) issued from this office May 15th, you were called on to continue your labors in collecting and forwarding supplies up to the present date. For the alacrity you have shown in complying with this request under circumstances so unfavorable to zeal we tender you special thanks. Your continued support has enabled us to extend a generous assistance to our armies gathered at Washington, Louisville and elsewhere before being finally mustered out of service. When you have forwarded to our receiving depots such supplies as you may now have on hand, we shall find our storehouses sufficiently recruited to meet all remaining wants of the service. In the Eastern Department our work of supply is substantially done, with the exception of a small service still required in the neighborhood of Washington. In the Western Department it may continue, on a very diminished scale, a couple of months longer. In Texas and the Gulf possibly the supply service may last all Summer. But by economy of our stores in hand we feel authorized to say that after collecting what is already in existence we shall be able to meet all just demands made upon us.

We, therefore, in accordance with our promise, notify our branches that their labors in collecting supplies for us may finally cease from this date. We shall make no further requisition upon them, except in regard to supplies already in their hands or on their way to them. We hope our branches will use all diligence in forwarding to our receiving depots, through the accustomed channels, whatever stores may reach them from their Sanitary Aid Societies, or any they have in hand. All balances in cash left in the branch treasuries, after settling up their local affairs, will be forwarded to G. T. Strong, Treasurer of the United States Sanitary Commission. So far as any of our branches are engaged in other portions of our work than in collecting and forwarding supplies, their labors will continue so long as those of the Commission itself may last. But the supply of work is over, and the characteristic labors of the women of the land in furnishing hospital clothing and comforts for sick and wounded soldiers are completed. Henceforward, during the few months of existence still allotted to the Sanitary Commission to complete its work of collecting the pensions and back pay of the soldiers, in which it already has one hundred and twenty-seven offices established, to make up its scientific record and close up its widely extended affairs, there will be no probable necessity for addressing the women of the country, and this circular may be our last opportunity until the final report of the Commission is made, of expressing the gratitude of the Board for their patient, humane and laborious devotion to our common work.

For more than four years the United State Sanitary Commission has depended on its branches, mainly directed and controlled by women, for keeping alive the interest in its work in all the villages and homes of the country, for establishing and banding together the Soldiers' Aid Societies which in thousands have sprung up and united their strength in our service. By correspondence and by actual visitation, as well as by a system of canvassers, you, at the centers of influence, have maintained your hold upon the homes of the land, and kept your storehouses and ours full of their contributions. By what systematic and business-like devotion of your time and talents you have been able to accomplish this, we have been studious and admiring observers. Your volunteer work has had all the regularity of paid labor. In a sense of responsibility, in system, in patient persistency, in attention to wearisome details, in a victory over the fickleness which commonly besets the work of volunteers, you have rivaled the discipline, the [illegible] of soldiers in the field, soldiers enlisted for the war. Not seldom, indeed, your labors continued through frosts and heats, and without interval for years, have broken down your health. But your ranks have always been kept full, and full, too, of the best, most capable and noble women in the country.

Nor do we forget that you, who have controlled and inspired our branches, and with whom it has been our happiness to be brought into personal contact, are, because acting in a larger sphere more worthy of our thanks and respect than the women who have sustained our village Soldiers' Aid Societies. Indeed, the ever-cheering burden of your communications to us has been the praise and love inspired in you by the devoted patriotism, the self-sacrificing zeal of the Aid Societies, and their individual contributors. Through you we have heard the same glowing and tear-moving tales of the sacrifices made by humble homes and hands in behalf of our work which we so often hear from their comrades of privates in the field, who throughout the war have often won the laurels their officers have worn, and have been animated by motives of pure patriotism, unmixed with hope of promotion or desire for recognition or praise, to give their blood and their lives for the country of their hearts. To you, and through you to the Soldiers' Aid Societies, and through them to each and every contributor to our supplies—to every woman who has sewed a seam or knitted a stocking in the service of the Sanitary Commission, we now return our most sincere and hearty thanks—thanks which are not ours only, but those of the camps, the hospitals, the transports, the prisons, the pickets and the lines, where your love and labor have sent comfort, protection, relief, and sometimes life itself.

It is not too much to say that the army of women at home has fully matched in patriotism and in sacrifices, the army of men in the field. The mothers, sisters, wives and daughters of America, have been worthy of the sons and brothers, husbands and fathers who were fighting their battles. After having contributed their living treasures to the war, what wonder they sent so freely after them all else they had! And this precious sympathy between the firesides and the camp-fires, between the bayonet and the needle, the tanned cheek and the pale face, has kept the nation one, has carried the homes into the ranks, and kept the ranks in the homes, until a sentiment of oneness, of irresistible unanimity, in which domestic and social, civil and religious, political and military elements entered, qualifying, strengthening, enriching and sanctifying all, has at last conquered all obstacles, and given us an overwhelming, a profound and permanent victory. It has been our precious privilege to be your almoners, to manage and distribute the stores you have created and given us for the soldiers and sailors.

We have tried to do our duty impartially, diligently, wisely. For the means of carrying on this vast work, which has grown up in our hands, keeping pace with the growing immensity of the war, and which we are now about to lay down after giving the American public an account of her stewardship, we are chiefly indebted to the money created by the Fairs which American women inaugurated and conducted, and to the supplies collected by you under our organization. To you, then, is finally due the largest part of whatever gratitude belongs to the Sanitary Commission. It is as it should be. The soldier will return to his home to thank his own wife, mother, sister, daughter, for so tenderly looking after him in camp and field, in hospital and prison; and thus it will be seen that it is the homes of the country which have wrought out this great salvation, and that the men and women of America have an equal part in its glory and its joy. Invoking the blessing of God upon you all, we are gratefully and proudly your fellow laborers.

A. D. BACHE, Vice President,

GENERAL ASBOTH'S SPEECH.—In the summer of 1863, General Asboth was in command at Columbus, Kentucky. Some of his friends made him the present of a horse. That elated Hungarian thus replied to the presentation speech:

"Fell Solshirs and Shentlemans: I thanks you for dis hoss! De hoss, shentlemans, is de noblest animal of mankind! Again, I says, I thanks you for dis fine hoss!"

NEGRO VS. CHIVALRY.—An ex-slave applied the other day to a lawyer in Maryland for the restoration of his boy of sixteen, who had been illegally apprenticed to his former master. In reply to the lawyer's question whether he was capable of taking care of the boy, the father said: "Well, massa, I rather thinks I's capable as him; for you see, ole massa has done gone and hired de boy out fur fou' dollar a month, and put de money in his pocket, and I spec's I's capable of dat kind of keer any ways."

The Next Annexation Scheme

In the Atlantic States and Canada the question of annexing the British Provinces to the United States is being very generally discussed. It is assumed on all sides that England will offer no objection to the plan. In fact the mother country seems disposed rather to help her colonial children to set up an independent Government for themselves, or permit them to form an alliance with us in case we should be agreed. The effort which was made to bring about a union of the Provinces seems to have entirely failed. The people of the Provinces did not deem a Government of this kind quite the thing they wanted. It appears that they prefer to retain their present connections with the home Government rather than undertake the experiment of practical independence which they were asked to try. But it is quite evident that many of the Canadians desire their Provinces to be annexed to the United States. So long as they could maintain reciprocity with this country they were content. But now that this arrangement will shortly terminate with no prospect of its being renewed, annexation is proposed in the stead of reciprocity in order that the Canadians may not be deprived of the benefit of free intercourse and free trade with us.

There can be no doubt that, in the process of time, the desire on the part of the people of the Canada to form a political connection with this country, will manifest itself much more strongly than it has yet done. Those Provinces may yet make a formal offer of this kind. Many persons at the East, of intelligence and judgment think they will be quite certain to do so. It becomes a question with us whether we should seek to have them annexed to the United States, and whether we should permit them to come if they express a desire to enter into our Federal Union. Hitherto we have offered no objection to an extension of our territorial limits, but have been ready to annex or purchase all that was offered us. It becomes us now to inquire whether our country is not large enough. Why should we seek to extend its boundaries? Will a further enlargement of our territory confer any additional advantages upon our people? A few years ago we thought we wanted Cuba. Do we want it now? If we desire the annexation of Canada, what is our purpose? Is it to do our country some substantial good, or is it merely to enlarge its area and so gratify the vanity of our people?

For ourselves, we think the United States big enough. We cannot see why there should be a desire to bring in any more of the elements of discord among us. We have quite enough of them now. If we shall succeed in living in peace among ourselves hereafter, we ought to be satisfied without trying to create a still greater antagonism of interests by annexing the territory of all our neighbors to our own.

FREEDOM AND FREE LABOR AT THE SOUTH.—It is noticeable that nearly all the late slave-holders of the South who have expressed an opinion on the subject, adhere to the idea that they must have the persons who labor for them, entirely under their control. While they generally confess—though the confession is wrung from them surely against their will—that the old order of things can never be revived, they insist on keeping those persons who were once their slaves, wholly within their power hereafter. They are not willing to introduce that equitable system of free labor which prevails at the North, and which with rare exceptions, permits or enables the laborer to be as free and independent as the employer himself. This reluctance on the part of the late slave-holders to give up at once and entirely, every form of the system which they and their ancestors, for several generations had been persuaded was essential to their prosperity, should occasion no surprise. A delusion of this kind is not to be at once dispelled. The evil results of the teachings of a false philosophy, especially when the inculcation of the error has been a process of long duration, are not to be cured or eradicated in a day or a year. Time is required to bring about any great social or political change; and to cause a complete reversal of the opinions and habitudes of a whole people, is a work of no trifling magnitude.

Free labor is one thing, and the course which the planters desire to pursue is quite another. Spite of all the derisive sneers of those who would essay to show that the man who labors for hire is as completely under the control of his employer as the slave is of his owner, the truth remains patent that in our country at least, the free laborer is an independent man, and his own master. Any one who asserts that he is not or can not be, is a real or possible tyrant. If those who desire to exercise unusual authority over the freedman, be permitted to carry out their designs, it will avail nothing to mock the name of liberty by telling the slave that servitude with him is at an end. The system which many of the planters insist on will, if established, revive all the harsh and forbidding features of slavery. The masters or employers will retain all the power and authority which they formerly possessed, while they will not be restrained by any of the selfish considerations which under the old system, often led them to care for the welfare of a slave just as they did for that of a brute animal which they claimed as property.

The loyal people of the country insist on making the negro free. It is right and just and politic to do so. But in carrying their determination into effect, they must see to it that they do not place the blacks in a worse position than they occupied before. If the late slaves be made really free—that is to say, if all their natural rights be granted them and they be permitted to exercise their own volition and obey the dictates of their own judgment, subject to the civil laws precisely as other persons are, their freedom will eventually be a blessing to them. But if their late masters succeed in their purpose of holding them completely under their authority and control—if the planter can hereafter have property in others in so far as to be able to compel the laborer to work for whatever sum he, the employer, shall choose to give, and for so long a time as shall suit his convenience, without consulting the wishes of him who performs the service—in such an event a bad system will be found to have been succeeded by one incomparably worse. At this juncture, while freedom is in its full career, every feature of the old system of slavery should be obliterated and all men endowed with equal rights before the law.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THEM?—The Sacramento Union says:

What shall be done with the Copperheads is one of the "issues" now under discussion among Union men and one that claims precedence of any negro question.

The Union states the issue precisely as it is. The Copperheads of the North are as great an obstacle in the way of peaceful reconstruction, as are all the negroes and whipped rebels of the South. Multitudes of Copperheads have been and are still as disloyal in spirit and intent as the most violent of the armed rebels have ever been. And they are as much worse than actual rebels as a secret, insidious enemy is more dangerous than an open foe.

The Salt Lake Union Vedette of the first inst says indications, which it is not deemed discreet to publish yet a while, promise the capture of those Port Neuf murderers before many weeks.

The rebel Ex-Governor Harris it appears has escaped to Mexico. Another seditious villain flying from the knives which he sharpened against his country and its laws.

Resolutions of the Union State Convention of California

The committee on resolutions submitted the following report:

Resolved, That representing the loyal Union men and the Union party of California, we acknowledge our gratitude to the brave men who on land and sea have fought the battles of the republic through the changing fortunes of a desperate civil war, to the statesmen who have exercised the civil authority of the Government and conducted its diplomacy above all, to Almighty God, whose gracious providence in the affairs of men was never more signally manifest than in bringing our country—the hope and beacon light of humanity—triumphantly through the terrible struggle.

Resolved, That while we have reason to rejoice in the success which has attended the Union arms and Union principles, we recognize the fact that our work is not yet done, and that great questions yet remain to be settled, and great difficulties to be overcome by Congress and the Administration in bringing order peace and submission to law out of the confusion and disorder in which the war has left the late rebel States, that there are still agents of disaffection to be restrained in the section lately in rebellion, and to be combatted at the polls in the State of California and that consequently there is no less necessity than heretofore for maintaining the organization of the party in its full vigor and integrity, to the end that California may at any time be in a condition to render the most effective support to every measure of policy which may be found necessary by Congress or the Administration, in order to maintain the authority of the Union and to secure and perpetuate the just fruits of victory.

Resolved, That in the life of Abraham Lincoln we recognize not only the eminent and lasting services which he rendered to our country as a patriot and a statesman but also the brilliant and unstained example which he has left to his country men and to mankind. Hitherto our history has been wanting in our illustration of the stimulating energies of the field of action bestowed by our republican institutions, but in the history of his life we have an actual instance of one born in the humblest condition of society, who surmounted the obstacles incurred by poverty and want of education, rising successively from the lowest to the highest station in our country, equal to every position, superior to every trial, and every where and at all times and for all time, presenting to the world the ideal hope of the representative republican man, citizen and patriot. On his tomb we lay the offering of our gratitude and love.

Resolved, That in Andrew Johnson we recognize the worthy successor of Abraham Lincoln. Like him the representative of the benefits of our free and beneficent republican institutions, and that to him we transfer with undoubting faith the allegiance of hope and love which we bear to the beloved institutions of our country. That we approve the spirit of combined firmness and clemency which has thus far characterized his Administration. We indorse his declaration that the restoration of peace and order cannot be entrusted to rebels and traitors who destroyed the peace and trampled down the order that had existed more than half a century, and believe it to be the duty of all Union men to oppose the restoration of civil government in the rebellious States until the President and Congress shall be satisfied that it will be wielded by truly loyal majorities therein. We have the fullest confidence in the Administration of President Johnson, and in his patriotism, wisdom and judgement, and pledge him our earnest support.

Resolved, That it is the duty and policy of the freemen of California to adopt the Amendment of the Constitution of the United States prohibiting involuntary servitude except on conviction for crime, throughout the United States.

THE BROTHER JONATHAN STATEMENT OF ONE OF THE CREW.—The Bulletin's Crescent City correspondent gives the following statement made by one of the crew of the steamer Brother Jonathan:

From one of the crew (Edward Shields) who was saved in the only boat which it is supposed got away from the vessel before she sank and which was commanded by James Patterson third officer of the ship I learn that there were nineteen persons saved, 11 men, 3 white women, 2 children and 1 Chinawoman and child. He says when the struck she had been got around an hour or so to return to Crescent City, as there was a very heavy sea and a strong northerly wind, which prevented her from making any headway. She had not been long steering for this place before she struck a sunken rock. They tried to back her off but it was of no use. She had staved a hole in her bottom. She was heading towards the south when she struck. But the wind carried her around so that she headed to the north before she went down. When she struck the unknown sunk en rock, she was about eight miles northwest from Point St. George. In about five minutes after [illegible] went through her [illegible] Shields saw the Captain and First Officer [illegible] were using their utmost endeavors on the quarter [illegible] all parts of the ship to save the passengers [illegible] the boats from the davits and helping them to get in them. As they were lowering away the boat that he was in he saw Capt. DeWolf [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Wrightly [illegible] at which he was in [illegible] When they got a short distance from the ship she was seen [illegible] which was swamped [illegible] It was [illegible]. When they [illegible] the ship [illegible] again. When the [illegible] the latter [illegible] As near as they can judge, it was about forty five minutes after she struck until she went down. She slid off the rock and it was thought from the soundings made around her she sunk in about [illegible] fathoms water. Shields says it was a very rough passage up and nearly all the women were sick in their state rooms at the time of the disaster but those who were on deck were got into the boats. There were two boats got down but only the one that was rescued came ashore in—one containing ladies and the other gentlemen.

BOMBAY.—For several years past the English have been directing their energies to the production of cotton in India. The famine of American cotton [illegible] Great Britain to make extraordinary [illegible] [illegible] the world for their future supplies [illegible] and speculation in India had been [illegible] a height not hitherto known. The close of the American war caused an instant depression in the price of cotton and [illegible] was the result. The financial [illegible] before the crash took place in Bombay [illegible].

It was [illegible] Bombay [illegible] had been carried [illegible] Every trader [illegible] wealthy traders to Rothschild's clerks were looking down with contempt on [illegible] magnates merchants offering to prefer to [illegible] their pension merely as an inducement to accept shares in their profits and their labors. [illegible] till the wages of servants were multiplied [illegible] animal food was beyond the means of officers with fixed incomes, and the Government declared officially that unless salaries were increased by at least thirty per cent the administration would be disorganized by want of men.

HOW THEY FEEL.—Rev. L. W. Lewis writing from Charleston, South Carolina, says he has conversed with a number of the ministers of the South Carolina Conference within the last two weeks and to a man they [illegible] of liberty and equal rights in church and State before the law. Northern men [illegible] will be acceptable [illegible] a small portion of the whites in the South [illegible] not so much on account of slavery as caste and old unreasonable prejudice. Both and Northern emigration are our only hope.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN!

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes bearing seven and three tenths per cent interest per Annum, known as the

SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th 1865 and are payable three years from that time, in currency or are convertible at the option of the holder, into

U. S. 5-20 Six per cent.

Gold Bearing Bonds.

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent including gold interest from November which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan at current rates, including interest of about ten per cent per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, WHICH ADDS FROM ONE TO THREE PER CENT MORE, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually by coupons attached to each note which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note
Two cents	$100
Ten	$500
20 " " "	$1000
$1	$5000

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

GREAT POPULAR LOAN

Of the People!

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market.

This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

Meeting of the Common Council.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held at the Chamber last evening at eight o'clock, Mayor Failing presiding.

The following members were present: Messrs. Gilmore, Lowndale, Morgan, Plummer, Rosenheim, Stott and Schuyler.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Capt. A. P. Ankeny was granted a portion of street for use in building purposes for thirty days.

William Patterson was granted the privilege of using a portion of Morrison and [illegible] streets for five days in the removal of a building.

The proprietor of the Pacific saloon on Front street was granted license to retail spirituous liquors.

A remonstrance signed by B. F. Goodwin and others relative to a change of grade on north Fifth street was indefinitely postponed. It was stated by Mr. Stott that the grade of those streets was not proposed to be changed; it was established by ordinance of August 15th 1864 [illegible]. The Committee on Streets and Public Property reported on the same. We conclude that no action by remonstrance would affect the grade. The remonstrants [illegible] petition for a change of grade, as the publication of the 18th inst. in this paper was of the grade as established, not a proposed change—if not suitable to them.

Several petitions and counter petitions relative to the spring or well of water in Jackson street were read and referred to committee on health and police.

The committee on streets and public property reported that J. H. Perry & Co., contractors for the improvement of Front street south of Morrison, had completed a portion of the work, and recommended that a warrant be drawn in their favor for the sum of $2,101. The report was adopted.

The same committee made several reports relative to the changing of grades, all of which were accepted.

Warrants were authorized in payment of claims against the city as follows: J. L. Parrish & Co. stationery $71 2[illegible]; Gas Light Company $218; James Bennett work on hose, $19.

An Ordinance appropriating $17,000 for removing the bar [illegible] to navigation in the Willamette river below the city of Portland, passed. The committee on ways and means were authorized to procure towage for the dredger, purchase all necessary tools, and employ workmen for the [illegible] operation of the machine.

The [illegible] Committee reported an ordinance to provide for taxing and killing of dogs, which was read a first and second time.

The [illegible] of the Committee on Streets and Public Property submitted a notice of the proposed improvement of Front street, between the north line of Pine street and the north line of Ash street and between the center of block 36 and the north line of D street by putting down the Nicolson pavement. The notice was authorized [illegible].

An ordinance appropriating an additional sum of $17[illegible] for the purchase of hose for Engine Company No. 4 passed.

[illegible].—There was a slight digression from the main subject last evening, as being the usual at the Lincoln House. A committee of the ladies there present who failed to recognize the faces of certain types who were unable to procure suits, for the purpose of joining with the crowd assembled at the Hall, visited the Oregonian office, and [illegible] a bountiful repast of cake, lemonade, etc., before the Printers. Nothing could have been [illegible] to lend a more pleasing variety to the events of the [illegible] than this, and we are willing to call it an [illegible] in a Printer's life, as every one of us who partook of the [illegible] signalized it so. The ladies have the thanks of the Printers for their kind remembrance. May they live long and happy lives, unblessed by Printers for [illegible], but if they should marry Printers for preference, may some genial lady wait upon their husbands as [illegible] upon last night, in all similar emergencies.

[illegible].—City Marshal Hoyt is making a business of [illegible] persons for fast driving. It is a violation of city [illegible] to drive faster than at a rate of six [illegible] hour. Why the ordinance has not been fully [illegible] in past times is only a mystery. Tim Doherty was [illegible] on a charge of fast driving, and yesterday [illegible]. There is often great danger from fast driving [illegible]. A few weeks ago a little girl barely escaped being maimed for life by having a coach of the [illegible] Stage Company run upon her at the corner of [illegible] Front streets. She was knocked down by the [illegible] and one wheel of the coach passed over her shoe, [illegible] the sole from the upper leather, yet there was [illegible] done about the matter, the driver even paying [illegible] to the affair. It is now the determination [illegible] that fast driving in the streets must be [illegible].

For the Dredger.—Masters of vessels inform us that there is a shoal of about twenty-five feet in length [illegible] of this river, which should receive the first attention of the dredger. It is soft bottom, and can be [illegible] in a short time. A very few days at the [illegible] of the river will suffice to take out the snags and [illegible] that there need be no interruption this season to navigation. Swan Island bar is a secondary consideration. Unless the water is very low there need be no [illegible] expected in that quarter.

[illegible].—The propeller Rabboni, Captain Carno, is [illegible] fast time in her trips. We see by the report in our marine list, that she made Vancouver in eight and a half hours running time from [illegible] on the night of the 17th. The distance is given [illegible] miles. After discharging her cargo and [illegible] she steamed for Portland, arriving here at six [illegible], fourteen miles farther, making the 114 [illegible] hours, including all stoppages.

[illegible].—The second match between Mac and Sally [illegible], the horses trotting on Saturday last—will come off to-day over the course of the Multnomah Park. The [illegible] is for two mile heats, best two in three; purse [illegible]. From the way in which the horses trotted on Saturday it is safe to say there will be an excellent race; [illegible] for two mile heats. The horses [illegible] at 3 o'clock P. M.

[illegible] Rev. Th[illegible] H. Pearne and family [illegible] by the bark Sam Merritt yesterday. They leave for San Francisco, and will take [illegible] for the East. A large number of our citizens [illegible] to the wharf to see the reverend gentleman and family away.

[illegible].—A pretty little girl of about five summers [illegible] from her [illegible] on Thursday evening, in this city. [illegible] there was considerable excitement, [illegible], which led to a thorough [illegible]. When found she had wandered nearly a [illegible] who were now coming in the [illegible] stopping in a wagon at the [illegible].

New Boat.—Workmen will commence the [illegible], 115 feet in length, 20 feet [illegible] depth of hold, of the stern-wheel [illegible] in the southern portion of the city on the [illegible]. The new boat is for Mr. Fisher, owner of [illegible] and several small lighters, scows, etc., [illegible] supplying the city with sand, wood, stone [illegible].

[illegible].—The steamer Rabboni arrived in this [illegible], having left Astoria at six o'clock [illegible] of the 17th, for Fort Vancouver, with Company A, [illegible] Infantry, Captain Smith, from Cape [illegible]. We learn that Colonel Curry is prepar[illegible] the Indians.

[illegible].—We are informed by the W. C. T. of the I. O. G. T. that Gen. [illegible] Coffin generously gave the ladies [illegible] to occupy his hall at the Lincoln House this [illegible] for the [illegible], free of charge. Such liberality [illegible].

[illegible].—Under the head of "Fire in [illegible]," the Stockton Independent of August [illegible] the following: "A fire broke out in Walla [illegible] of the 2d inst.," etc.

[illegible] The [illegible] given at the Lincoln House, [illegible] of the ladies of the I. O. of G. T., [illegible] ful, and netted a handsome [illegible] it was devised.

[illegible].—Multnomah Lodge No. 12, I. O. G. T. meet in their Hall this evening, in [illegible] of the [illegible] of Mr. S. B. Parrish. By order of W. C. T.

Fort Walla Walla to be Abandoned.—We are [illegible] that Col. Curry, commanding this [illegible], has issued orders for the [illegible] of Fort Walla Walla by the U. S. [illegible]. The Government property, Quartermaster's [illegible], are to be removed as soon as [illegible] can be provided. The stores will [illegible] be distributed among the other military posts throughout the Department. The troops from Walla Walla will be sent, it is said, to points from which they can operate most readily and [illegible] against the Indians.

Protection No. 4.—Special meeting this (Saturday) evening at 8 o'clock. Important business.

The Santiam Mines.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

QUARTZVILLE, Aug. 11, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Since my last letter I have had further opportunities of becoming acquainted with the formation and character of this locality, but will proceed to inform you only on such matters as relate to the presence here of gold and silver.

In the valleys, creeks, gulches and ravines with the assistance of shovel and pan, I prospected for gold and in every case succeeded in obtaining fine colors but not in sufficient quantity to warrant me in saying that it would pay by any process up to three one dollar or one dollar and a half per day. Still I take the presence of this gold everywhere to be of greater importance than even many experienced miners would at first acknowledge, and it is in the following way that observation here and elsewhere has taught me to regard this matter of immense importance as bearing upon the auriferous nature of the quartz in and around the district. On the slopes of the mountains at the foot of the naked ledges, mixed with clay, sand or gravel, are to be found quartz boulders and other accumulations of angular fragments of quartz, which by the action of water, frost and gravity have become detached from the parent rock and from the chafing together and the decomposition, the fine gold is carried into every portion of the district where water has acted. This opinion in favor of the gold bearing properties of the quartz in this neighborhood is strengthened when I mention another fact. The soil on the slope of the mountains is not in mining phrase "strong enough to hold gold," being very light and porous and yet it was there, that with the pan I [illegible] obtained the best prospect. The reason is this: the soil contains many small pieces of quartz more or less in a state of decomposition; through this soil, the water for many years has not found a passage. The lichens and plants of a larger growth have formed a water proof covering on the side of the mountain, and the water runs over it in the valley below. I mention this as it will have considerable weight with those who are acquainted with quartz mining, especially when the formation of this district is taken into account.

QUARTZ MINING.

Although I have no rich strikes to report of, I have pleasure in stating that a continued, if not increased interest is observable in these mines. I visited the Santiam Company, and found that a considerable amount of work had been performed, and work, too, that reflects credit on those concerned. A speedy, persevering man, Mr. McDonald, is Superintendent. They have run two tunnels the longest of which is 108 feet, 6 feet wide and 8 feet high. They have upwards of 500 tons of quartz ready for the mill. I took a pan full of fine quartz from a seam in their longest tunnel and obtained a good prospect from it. I also found silver in this lead, and altogether, this and the south side of Gold Mountain, has a good appearance.

With the exception of the Salem Company's operations, which I have not yet seen, I have now briefly described the position of the companies that have taken out quartz in any considerable quantities from their leads. By the Recorder's book, I find that 11 companies have been incorporated, and if one was inclined to be harsh, the question might be asked, what have they done? I am not aware that I am writing either to please or offend, neither am I ignorant of the many difficulties which gentlemen have to contend against in a district of this kind. I fear that some have been what miners call "shepherding"—that is, holding on by their claims until others have tested the rock, and by this means, many little expenses fall upon the active companies. Probably, some of them are composed of men who have not too much of the go-ahead principle about them, while other companies are suffering from financial rheumatism, a fearful disease anywhere, but of more than ordinary acuteness and fatality in a mining region. However, there is room for more activity than has yet been exhibited, and what is wanted, is a strong, yet prudent spirit of speculation. Mining means risk in some degree, but the risk here is neither wild nor hopeless when the many and strong indications are taken into consideration. People say, "if the mines at Santiam will pay I should like to have a share in them, if not, I desire to have nothing to do with them." That is not the spirit that has made America the great country that she is, neither are the people who talk in that way, the class that can or will make the future of Oregon a great one. These mountains will not at the flat of any one belch forth gold, nor will the earth split open and disclose some imbedded jewel. There is gold to be found in the soil! Gold observable in the quartz! Gold if you test the rock! What more is wanted to satisfy some persons? Nothing but the assurance that if they spend one dollar this week, that next week they will make ten dollars by it. Let no one make a mistake. I am not here to write up the country, for not a shanty, not a rod of land, nor a blade of grass in Oregon can call me owner, but I like to feel that I am in a live country, amongst live people. To those who own property in Portland, in Salem, and many other places in the State, the success of these mines must be of the greatest importance—it would add to their trade—add to the value of their real estate, and this can be done by an inexpensive outlay. The small weekly subscriptions of a number of gentlemen would suffice to send out prospectors, and then we should know a little more about the mining resources of Oregon than we do at present.

Oregon is comparatively a young State—an unknown State. No man knows the resources of Oregon, though some will pretend to say they do. I can stand upon a mountain top, even in this small district, and gaze east, north, west and south, over a country where beauty alternates with grandeur, and say with truth, "no man knows this district nor its resources." It lies miles away, fresh as from the hands of the Creator. All that man knows is but some little link of a trail that carries him from one mountain to another. Resources of Oregon! What are they? Who will develop them? I have been pleased to find in this State, to which I am almost a stranger, spirited, intelligent gentlemen, pleased to know that there are agricultural societies that will, in time, make farming a science; pleased to find that there are gentlemen who will raise and erect saw mills and quartz mills. All honor and success to them. But there are others who are everlastingly singing their songs of discouragement and disparagement, who, although they do not know iron pyrites from gold, nor galena from silver, impudently declare there is no gold, no silver here. These are your croakers found everywhere—animals that no zoologist has as yet classified, although they are the only cosmopolitans I know of.

Mr. Poage, who informs me that he mined considerable in Nevada Territory, has succeeded in forming a company entitled the "Portland and Santiam Company." He appears to be a man of energy, and says he will at once commence operations.

The "Union Gold and Silver Flat Mining Co." have sunk a hole in the valley forty feet deep, but have not yet reached bed rock. There are several men working placer diggings near the Santiam river, but I know nothing of the result of their labors.

A word or two in conclusion with regard to the city of Quartzville. At present the streets exist mainly on paper, but the notices on trees around, inform you of the names of gentlemen who claim sites as town lots. In the streets, or rather where they should be, are logs, stumps, and other obstructions, which no one at present, considers it his duty to remove. Let the miners make a law that each lot holder contribute his share towards effecting the improvement, and then Quartzville will present a better appearance.

A number of men are employed in the erection of the quartz mill, and matters are altogether progressing.

JOHN ARNOUP.

An Unnatural Young Jeff.—The Providence Press says that one of the citizens of that place has returned from Savannah, who gives information concerning the family of Jeff. Davis, to the effect that Mrs. Davis is boarding at the Pulaski House, and has apparently plenty of money. She has an extensive and magnificent wardrobe, he is certain from ocular demonstration, and also that she spares no pains to let the fact be known. Her little son seems to be enjoying himself hugely, and frequently amuses himself by singing in the hall, "We'll hang Jeff. Davis to a sour apple tree."

Departure of the Dictator and Consort.—The United States ocean Monitor Dictator and her consort the Vanderbilt sail to-day from this port. This is the final trip of the Dictator and if she meets the expectations of her commanding officers she will be accepted by the Government. The trip is thus laid down: The monitor is to steam from this port up Long Island Sound, stopping at Newport, thence proceeding with her consort to Boston, so on to Portsmouth, Portland and finally Halifax. It then becomes discretionary with the officers whether she steams across the Atlantic. If everything works well she will attempt the passage without fail. Her speed is required to be at least ten knots, which she has already made in coming from Fortress Monroe to this port. It is expected she will now make eleven to twelve knots, as her machinery has been considerably improved under the direction of Captain Ericsson. This vessel is [illegible] tons capacity, with a single turret, and was built by C. H. Delamater, in this city. She was launched December 26, 1863. Her crew numbers 202 souls.—New York Tribune, July 8th.

Kossuth.—Louis Kossuth, in the course of a private letter of the 29th of May, to the editor of the Tribune incidentally says:

How happy you must feel in having been spared to see the triumph of those grand principles for which you have been contending all your life! The stain of slavery is removed from the fair escutcheon of your noble land. The curse is dispelled which clouded the bright prospect of her future. The manner in which the genius of your people carried through the democratic principle in its first application to a vast community, affords a sure guarantee that, to the benefit of all humanity, you will know how to consolidate by wisdom and moderation what you have achieved by bravery and admirable perseverance.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It renovates, purifies and strengthens the system and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is a sovereign specific for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhea and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. ap12

Horsemen, Now is Your Time!

I EXPECT TO EXHIBIT COBERG AND HIS FAMILY of Colts at the Oregon State Fair, Oct. 3d, at Salem. I challenge the coast to meet me and produce a Family, or a well authenticated history of a Family in America, that will surpass them for size, form, style, coat, action, and their adaptation to general use except sporting purposes. I will have some yearling colts for sale.

Persons wishing to secure the services of COBERG in Northern Oregon, for the season of 1866, can do so by seeing me on my way to or at the Fair.

I deem it unnecessary to give an extended description here, but would invite persons to call and see for themselves. Would say that I have reliable information that where the COBERG stock has been in use in Illinois for 18 years, at least, they give satisfaction and bring more money than any other stock of horses.

French Assistance to the Rebels

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

The real purpose of the French Emperor's Mexican expedition is beginning to be developed in a way promising a speedy verification of the views expressed by many persons in this country at the very inception of Napoleon's interference in Mexican affairs, viz: that he meant nothing less than the foundation of a basis from which he would be able to operate directly and with power in effect in rendering assistance to those in rebellion against the United States, hoping thereby to accomplish the overthrow and destruction of the largest Republican Government in the world. The evidences that this was the theory of the French Mexican enterprise present themselves so conspicuously, that we cannot, if we would, avoid them. The existence of good fellowship, harmonious intercourse and mutual arrangements for trade between the late rebel forces in Texas and the Imperial party in Mexico has been fully apparent throughout. But the most convincing proof that each party was pledged to render to the other all the assistance in their power—whether the assistance required was in increasing their respective forces, furnishing war material or trading in cotton—is afforded by recently captured correspondence between the rebels and imperialists. Copies of the captured documents, some of which are in the form of official reports, are given in recently published correspondence from Brownsville, Texas. The letters of chief importance are those of the rebel Gen. Slaughter, showing the character of the arrangements established with the imperial commander at Bagdad, on the Rio Grande, to the Assistant Adjutant General in Gen. Magruder's district, and was thus intended for Gen. Magruder's perusal and consideration.

PRIVATE INSTRUCTIONS TO SUPPLY THE REBELS WITH WAR MUNITIONS.

HEADQ'RS WEST SUB DISTRICT, TEXAS, }
BROWNSVILLE, April 8, 1865. }

Col. Thomas M. Jack, Assistant Adjutant General—COLONEL—I have the honor to state for the information of district and department headquarters, that I have exerted every means to retain and increase the feeling of friendship between the Imperial and Confederate governments. Gov. Viduarri has been appointed one of the "Council of the Nation," and has returned to Monterey. I received a letter from him, in which he states he has much information to give me which he cannot safely commit to writing. In view of this, Colonel S. Benavides has received a leave of absence from district headquarters, and as he was a mutual friend of Gov. Viduarri and myself, I have directed him to proceed to Monterey and place himself in personal communication with him. Upon his return I trust I will be able to give more definite information as to the state of feeling toward our government and cause by the Imperial government. I have made an arrangement with General Mejia, commander of the imperial forces on this frontier, for the mutual rendition of criminals, a copy of which has been forwarded to district headquarters. Its first practical working was the return of three thieves who happened to be deserters from Jones's battery,) whose influence was great and pernicious. This course on the part of General Mejia, together with the general impression that the arrangement had been made between us for the return of deserters, caused the United States Consul to address a letter of protest, which was far from proving satisfactory to him in its results, as he obtained in reply only a letter reflecting severely upon the acts and conduct of the Federals in several instances in connection with the Mexicans. I am promised a copy of this correspondence, which, when obtained, I shall promptly forward.

The imperial commander of the port of Bagdad, (a Belgian) lately assigned to the command, informs me he has private instructions to permit all arms, ammunition and munitions of war, etc., to be introduced and passed for the use of the Confederacy which are desired. This is similar to the proposal privately extended to Gen. Mejia, and previously reported to district headquarters. They show an evident feeling of friendship for our cause. It is known by the Emperor, and strongly conjectured by myself, that the Juarez party and the Federals are in correspondence with each other. I received information a few days since that a Mexican bearer of dispatches from Juarez to the Federals crossed the river into my district at Piedras Negras on the 17th ult. I have a large party of scouts out and trying to intercept them. If successful, I hope to be able, through this means, to complicate matters between Mexico and the United States to such a degree as to work to our advantage.

The feeling of all the imperial officers on this frontier is strongly in our favor. They deem our cause strongly allied to their own in many respects, and are ready and ever willing to extend every possible aid that can be done without directly bringing their own government in contact with the United States.

We have already, in the person of Mr. Quintero, a commissioner of government who is resident at Monterey. I do not think that any commissioner sent by the General commanding the department could be of any service in Mexico, as I presume Mr. Slidell has been using every effort in his power to affect the new government.

Gov. Vidaurri will, I feel certain, further our interests in every way in his power, so long as he retains this immediate position.

Gen. Mejia, the present commander here, promised me to do all in his power to aid us. I feel certain he entertains the kindest feelings for us all.

I may as well add here that the people on this frontier, with the exception of the Vidaurri party, are all opposed to the Imperial Government, and all look to Federal assistance. I am, Colonel, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JAS. E. SLAUGHTER,
Brigadier-General Commanding

Under these arrangements, millions of dollars worth of cotton was run out of Texas into Mexico. Upon the arrival of the Federal forces at Brownsville, long lines of wagon trains loaded with cotton were arriving from all directions, and some portions of it fell into our hands. But the rebel speculators were not long in sending off couriers to intercept the trains and divert the cotton toward Rio Grande city, where a large amount of war materials as well as cotton, which had been enumerated in the stipulations of surrender, were passed into Mexico. Immense fortunes have been made by the leading rebel officials in Texas through the facilities afforded them by the Imperialists in Mexico for speculation in cotton. It is stated, as one instance, that Gen. Bee, who before the war was worth about $30,000, could now boast of $400,000 safely deposited in the Bank of England.

When Brownsville was occupied by the United States forces, subsequent to its surrender after the decamping of Gen. Slaughter, who commanded on the immediate frontier, several important letters fell into our hands. The following letter is from Gen. Mejia, commanding Imperial forces on the Rio Grande, to Gen. Slaughter, in answer to a letter sent by the latter to the former:

MATAMORAS, December 7, 1864.

GENERAL— * * * Although it is certain that the stipulations made with Col. Ford respective to the delivery of criminals, have not terminated, yet the Mexican authorities have always delivered to the Confederate authorities the stolen property which has been claimed.

Allow me, General, to manifest to you that these agreements have not been adjusted yet, for two serious difficulties have presented themselves in this respect. The Confederacy claims as stolen property the slaves who have escaped from the dominion of their masters; but the laws of Mexico do consider as free the slave that puts a foot on our territory. I cannot, for this reason, allow the delivery of the slaves.

The laws of the Confederacy declare soldiers all men capable of bearing arms; therefore, if I should compromise myself and deliver up the deserters, I would completely close the door to foreign emigration, which is immensely necessary to my country, and I would have the necessity to hunt up those who, to avoid the calamities of war, come to seek a refuge in Mexico.

THOMAS MEJIA

To Gen. J. E. Slaughter, Brownsville

CONFEDERATE COTTON TO MEXICO—OFFICIAL LETTER

If there ever was a doubt that the Imperialists directly aided the rebels in getting cotton out of Texas, then that doubt can no longer exist, for here is a letter, written at the time, over the signature of a then responsible authority, stating that such transactions were carried on with the consent of the Mexican authorities. There can be no doubt as to the genuineness of these letters, for military officers of our Government can place it beyond dispute that such is a positive fact.

HEADQ'RS WEST SUB DISTRICT, TEXAS, }
BROWNSVILLE, January 10, 1865 }

Gen. Thomas Mejia, etc., etc.—GENERAL: I have the honor to state for your information that a few days since the Judge of the District Court of Matamoras notified me of the possession of certain claims of citizens of Mexico against the Confederate States, and that if payment was not made promptly he should feel it his duty to issue his writ of attachment in the case and to order the seizure of the cotton belonging to the Confederate Government, and to take such other steps necessary to secure a speedy settlement. Under these circumstances I feel it my duty to urge you, if in your power, to stop any proceedings touching this subject until the matter can be laid before the Imperial Government for its consideration and decision.

* * * * * * * *

The commerce now being carried on by the Confederate States, through their agents, with Mexico and other countries through the ports of Mexico, was done by the consent of the Mexican authorities. * * *

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JAS. E. SLAUGHTER, Brig. Gen. Com'g
To Senor Don Thomas Mejia, etc., etc.

Other letters are given, showing the friendly feelings existing between the Imperial or Maximilian commander, Mejia, and the rebel General Slaughter.

LETTER FROM WENDELL PHILLIPS.—The following letter from Wendell Phillips appears in the Anti-Slavery Standard:

To the Editor of the Anti-Slavery Standard: Let me call your attention and that of the country to the danger pointed out in the following extract from the letter of an acute and vigilant friend:

"President Johnson is rapidly issuing proclamations for the reorganization of all the rebel States. The Governors appointed are old politicians who know all the ropes. Is it not their design and will they not be able, before next December, to make all their new Constitutions and elect new Governors and full Congressional delegations? Then what is to prevent those States from presenting themselves, fully accredited on the floor of the new Congress, and participate in its organization? They will claim, as President Johnson does, that their States have never been out of the Union; that the Government declares (as it will) the rebellion suppressed and military occupation withdrawn, and that they now resume their relations with the Federal Government which have only been temporarily suspended. In this claim they will be backed by the whole power of the Administration, and this is the trap to be sprung on us. The Clerk of the House you remember, presides until a new Speaker is elected. If he had firmness enough to refuse to receive the credentials of these rebel members, and to refuse to count their votes, this danger might be averted. But can we count on so much virtue in a politician? We may, perhaps, baffle this plan in the Senate. That body being always organized, no member can be admitted without the concurrence of the rest. But how long would the Senate stand up against the action of the House of Representatives, and enormous pressure of every other kind?

I believe this attempt will be made at the next meeting of Congress. Possibly South Carolina might be kept out, but even that is doubtful. I may exaggerate the importance of this matter, but that the attempt will be made there can be no doubt."

The importance of these suggestions cannot be over-estimated, and every means should be taken to avert this peril. We have been counting on the possibility of rallying a majority of the legally elected members of Congress to keep the members from the rebel States out of Congress, at least till they consented to certain conditions—ratifying the anti slavery amendment and other matters. Some sanguine friends believe they can be kept out until they agree to give the negro the right to vote. But, according to this rebel plot, the Southern members may enter Congress without agreeing to the anti-slavery amendment, or to any other conditions. Once inside the doors they may take part in all the discussions and votes affecting themselves and their claims, and may checkmate the anti slavery amendment itself. In fact, our fate rests in the hands of the Clerk of the House of Representatives. I know nothing about him, but how few men in the nation could be trusted to stand firm in such a post? The whole North should be roused to guard against this danger. If the rebel States, in their present mood, can in any way get inside of Congress, and wield eighty four votes there, and more especially if they can get there unpledged to any conditions, and wield those votes, then, truly, the "South" will be as strong as ever, and the negro almost as defenceless.

Yours, WENDELL PHILLIPS.

ONE WAY TO PUNISH JEFF. DAVIS.—A novel suggestion is made by the New York correspondent of the London Spectator, thus:

Davis must be condemned to death, but were I President Johnson, I would neither pardon him and send him into exile, nor allow him to be hanged. If he were pardoned on condition of exile, he would merely lead a comfortable, perhaps a luxurious life abroad, receiving much attention from certain people. He must be conspicuously punished, and yet not made a martyr either by his imprisonment or his death. Therefore, upon his condemnation I would reprieve his sentence indefinitely, on condition that he gave his parole never to leave the country, and to report himself once a month to the judicial or military officer of the republic nearest to his place of residence, and once a year to the President at Washington. From any position of public trust he is of course cut off. If necessary, he should be comfortably supported at the expense of the nation. His only punishment should be that of owing his life to the clemency of the Government he sought to destroy, and the becoming humiliation of publicly acknowledging its authority once a month while he lived. And such an example would be more instructive than a hanging. Thus would I do with the chief civil and military leaders of the rebellion.

THE BURNING OF THE COTTON AND TOBACCO IN RICHMOND.—The following letter, bearing upon the controverted topic, as to who ordered the burning of the cotton and tobacco in Richmond has been unearthed. The original is in the hands of George H. Colby, of New Hampshire. The letter shows that the evacuation of Richmond was contemplated fully six weeks before it took place.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Feb 25—11:30, P. M.

Lieut Gen. Ewell, Commanding, etc.—General: I do not suppose that the order of General Lee contemplates any immediate action in reference to the destruction of cotton, tobacco, etc. Go to his headquarters in the morning to confer with him, and you will probably receive a communication from him during the day. Meantime, do not issue an order of execution.

For certain reasons I communicate with you in this form rather than through the Adjutant and Inspector General's office. Respectfully,

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, Sec'y of War.

EMIGRATION ON THE PLAINS.—A dispatch from Fort Laramie to the Salt Lake Vedette, under date of July 8th, says:

For the 16 days ending June 30, 1865, 2,227 teams passed Junction Overland Mail Road, bound West. The number of horses, mules and oxen, and other cattle, with these teams, is nearly 18,000. Nearly as many passed for the 14 days ending June 14th. And during the month of May over 5,000 teams and 30,000 head of stock passed the same point bound West. It will not take many years, at this rate, to erect States on the broad prairies of the West, and build cities on the slopes of the Rocky Mountains. This large emigration has been thus far safely escorted, except one single accident, through an intense hostile Indian country, by the officers and soldiers of Gen. Connor's command.

THE OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD.—A Wisconsin paper says the oldest man in the world is now living in Caledonia in that State. His name is Joseph Crelo, and his age is one hundred and thirty nine years. He has lived in Wisconsin more than a century, and was first married in New Orleans one hundred and nine years ago. Some years afterwards, he settled at Prairie du Chien, while Wisconsin was yet a province in France. Before the Revolutionary war, he was employed to carry letters between Prairie du Chien and Green Bay. But a few years ago he was called as a witness in the Circuit Court in a case involving the title to certain real estate at Prairie du Chien, to give testimony in relation to events that transpired eighty years before. He now resides with a daughter, by his third wife, who is over seventy years of age.

There has been established in London an association called the "Anthropological Society," whose object is to prove that all foreign missionary operations, not only do no good, but inflict a positive injury on mankind.

MOUNT ETNA.—A letter received from Catania dated May 28th says that the eruption of Mount Etna continues. In fact, it had broken out with renewed violence a few days previously, and had done some damage.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, August 18th, 1865

Since the period of our last review many incidents favorable to the capture of the pirate Shenandoah are reported. She can hardly escape being taken, with the present fleet of war vessels on her track. The action of the English in sending after her the British war steamer Devastation, is worthy of remark. The coming of this pirate so near the northern coast has had a tendency to check shipments of treasure. Wells, Fargo & Co. have large amounts on hand, which were held in consequence of fears that the pirate might be disposed to take one of our California bound steamers. Notwithstanding this fear, however, on the part of some shippers, there was a very heavy shipment of treasure by the Sierra Nevada on Wednesday.

There is now, very little freight offered for shipment below, in consequence of the markets of California being well stocked with grain and produce of their last crop. The demand there for wheat and flour, for shipment to China has been considerable, which is being supplied as [illegible]. [illegible] will permit and there has also been a large amount coming in this direction. We noticed by the last steamer a heavy shipment of flour for the Victoria market from California. Oregon flour still maintains good prices. It being superior in almost all respects to new California brands, but the old stock is being worked off so that by the time new wheat can be more freely offered there will be but little old flour in the market.

It is a matter somewhat surprising, that there is so much left [illegible] of the [illegible] of 1864 when we remember that in February, March and April when shipments were so heavy, and prices ruled so high, it was the general prediction that the supply would fall short of the demand. Yet it seems to have been equal to the demand at that time and at those prices, and we have had large quantities to fall back upon in the sliding scale of downward prices.

Farmers throughout the valley have about finished cutting the crop of 1865 and some threshing has been done. Some flour from new wheat is offered.

The crop of this year will be about equal to the crop of 1864. Early sowed wheat, we are informed, will yield well, while that sowed in winter or spring is in many places of very inferior growth, scarcely worth the harvest. This fact should be directed to the attention of the farmers, and the advantage of having their grounds well prepared and sowed in early fall is [illegible] to secure the greatest remuneration for their labors.

Past experience demonstrates the truth that other sections of the coast must look to Oregon in a great degree for their supply of cereals. It is shown by the Bulletin and other papers of California there is now signs of a greater demand upon California than she can supply of wheat and flour, the deficiency must be made up from this State in larger quantities than from other ports.

In reviewing this subject a matter suggests itself to us, quite important in this connection. It is—Population. While the S. F. Press is showing a decrease of population in California of some 1,250 in the space of six months, and attributing the same to various causes, it may be shown that the population of this State has very materially increased in that time, and there is still room for more. Our lands do not fail to yield good crops, and a much larger population can be well sustained. The census of the State, now about completed by the assessors, from all we are enabled to learn, will show a very favorable result for Oregon in this respect, and give us what we have heretofore been unable to obtain, except through rough estimates, the products of the country.

Financially, there has been but very little transpiring during the week of general interest. The average receipts of bullion from the mining regions have been in excess of any former week for the season. The developments being made in the Cascade range of mountains, quite near at home, have been discussed at length in the Editorial columns. There is apparently a bright future in prospect for this section. The iron and coal interests of this section are also receiving attention. Specimens from the mines near St. Helens went forward by the Sierra Nevada for test of its value in San Francisco. Considerable quartz rock has also been forwarded to New York during the period under review, but generally speaking there is nothing new in the quartz mining line to report.

The new steam dredger for clearing out the channel of the Willamette, is finished and in good working order. The obstacles to a free navigation between Portland and the Pacific are now quite probably of short duration and we are placed in as favorable position with the sea board as is Philadelphia, New Orleans, and places of like character.

The two vessels clearing the past week have taken light cargoes. There is very little lumber offering, and as we have before stated the demand for produce is [illegible]. The bark A. A. Eldridge, from Honolulu, is now past due two weeks. The steamer Active is nearly ready for the trade between this city and Victoria.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, August 18th, 1865

There is to-day, and has been for a week, a better tone prevailing in the wholesale and jobbing trade than for a long time back. There is no perceptive speculative feeling, but it appears to be based upon a revival of trade in all the various channels of merchandise, groceries, liquors, etc.

In looking over the daily trade sales, which are seldom given to us as in most other communities, we have cause to say that there is springing up a good healthy dealing, and really no complaints need be heard of dull times. There is scarcely a merchant in the city but who has kept up an average business for this season with seasons past, and very frequently larger sales are noted for July, and so far in August, 1865, than for the same months last year. And this is reasonable. There is a vast amount of business done in our own city which has not heretofore been done. Prosperous times are indicated all about us—many really fine buildings are in process of erection, and many thousands of dollars are being expended on the streets, which give rise to a good trade. The number of dealers in Portland to-day is more than double the number of 1862, and all are doing the same proportion of business one or two transacted then, or if anything more. We feel justified in asserting that if, as a country cotemporary has suggested, there were evidences of a spasm in the trade of Portland, the crisis has passed, and has culminated in no crash, but a quiet revival of business. We deem that this whole region of country is perfectly safe. Compare the imports for six months of 1865 with six months of 1864, and we have a large excess in favor of the former. The future prospects are still bright, and we should hail with satisfaction all efforts of enterprise, individual, private or public, that we may retain the growth of commerce in this direction.

We had no intention of reviewing the trade, but we desire to call the attention of the leading journal East of the mountains to the fact that there is no cause for alarm in reference to the condition of matters at home. There is not an unusual plethora of money here, because of the fact that our capitalists are continually investing, but we may say their investments are not likely to bring failures.

The receipts of domestic produce are very light from all parts of the interior. Flour remains unchanged. We have no anticipation of any further decline until the market is better stocked from new wheat.

Sandwich Islands sugar is quoted one cent lower. Buyers in this market receive the benefits of freight and insurance over purchases in the San Francisco market, on account of the advantages of direct importation. The trade of Oregon with the Islands is now very promising and may be considered fully and permanently established.

Bacon and Ham is quoted at 24@25 cents ℔ lb. There has been some considerable activity in the market, and among other transactions we note the shipment of a quantity to San Francisco per steamship on Wednesday, at outside figures in round lots. The demand for the upper country is light. Buyers are offering 24@25 cents for lots from first hands.

There is nothing new in the line of general produce purchases. Lard is still scarce and prices firm.

The city retail trade is very quiet. There is an inquiry for good young chickens at $3 50 ℔ dozen, old chickens are worth $6 25 ℔ doz. Eggs are very scarce. A lot of fine fresh eggs would be the most remarkable feature of the market. A first rate article of Butter is also scarce and the old prices are maintained without difficulty. To-day Butter commands in our best hands [illegible] cents ℔ lb. Eggs 40 cents ℔ dozen.

There is an abundance of small fruit in the market, offering at nominal figures. The best of Lawton blackberries sell at wholesale [illegible] cents ℔ lb.

Peaches are among the new articles appearing in market during the week. They are of California, of excellent quality. Prices are [illegible], buyers are not anxious to purchase from first hands at 12½@[illegible] cents.

Grouse and Pheasants are more plentiful. There are a few persons who have been [illegible] supplying the market at prices not materially different from the quotations who seem to be realizing fair profits from the trade.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivaled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

[illegible]

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
